NATIONAL ASSOCIATION for OLMS TED PARKS

Help steward & promote Olmsted parks & landscapes

With your financial contribution, the National Association for Olmsted Parks will continue a four-decade record of working to promote and protect historic green infrastructure designed by the Olmsted firm. This unique American legacy of thoughtfully planned places embodies much of the intellectual and design content that defines the modern American profession of landscape architecture and provides the foundation for ensuring that nature remains a viable and accessible part of our cities and communities.

Program Highlights
Looking ahead to the celebration of the bi-centennial of Olmsted’s birth in 2022, NAOP is initiating collaborative efforts to involve communities in understanding, protecting and promoting the legacy we all enjoy and treasure:

NAOP partners with communities and affiliate organizations to create programs that recognize the irreplaceable landscapes of the Olmsted legacy.

NAOP is the only national organization focused on the Olmsted legacy and that brings communities together around the stewardship of their Olmsted parks and landscapes.

NAOP is expanding its online guide to the Olmsted legacy – OlmstedOnline.org – enabling everyone interested in the Olmsted firm’s work to better understand and protect these important landscapes.

NAOP collaborates with the Frederick Law Olmsted National Historic Site in the management of several critically important outreach projects, such as the digitization of the Olmsted plan collection which enables internet accessibility.

NAOP serves as fiscal agent for the Frederick Law Olmsted Papers Project, now working on its twelfth and final volume - Frederick Law Olmsted: Plans and Views of Communities and Private Estates.

NAOP responds to local organizations across North America seeking information about their Olmsted legacy to support their on-going stewardship efforts which help to protect, promote and preserve our collective Olmsted legacy.

Please join us! Be a NAOP supporter. Your financial contribution ensures that our work to promote and protect this unique American landscape legacy continues.
